The Golden Discovery.

This is printed for the benefit of the gray and bald headed fibbers who think that a sudden letting up will jar the distinctional machinery.

The Rev. T. H. Cope writes from Hartland Vicarage, North Devon, to the London Times. It is frequently affirmed that an abstinence from alcoholic beverages in a person—much more an aged person—who has used them through life, is prejudicial to health. An instance has lately come under my observation of the beneficial results arising from the sudden disuse of alcoholic stimulants by a widow of eighty-two summers. Her usual drink through life had been gin, which she changed for beer previous to reaching her eightieth year. She suffered from occasional attacks of gout in her left hand, and also a running foot sore. Upon her reaching the age of eighty—that is, two years ago—she suddenly adopted the total abstaining principle much to the surprise and consternation of her friends, who all prophesied a speedy and sudden termination of her life for the want of her accustomed potations. Nothing of the kind. The foot healed, the gout vanished, and for two years she has been free from these harassing complaints, and is a living monument of the good effected by the sudden adoption of a nonalcoholic regimen. She is in her eighty-third year, and frequently walks out into her son's garden or farmyard without any covering on her head. Her memory is excellent, she can repeat long prayers, and she bids fair to become a centenarian.

Sketch of Gen. Shields.

New York Herald.

Gen. James Shields, who has been the subject of so much turmoil in Congress, was borne in Tyrone, Ireland, 1810, came to this country in 1826, settled in Illinois, studied law, was a legislator and judge, was made by Polk Commissioner of the General Land Office, was made Brigadier General for the Mexican war, was shot through the lungs, but recovered, fought at Chapultepec bareheaded and in his shirt sleeves without a horse, was again wounded, rescued from outrage a lady and her daughter in the night time by a secret and disobedient sally, became Senator from Illinois, was afterward beaten by Lyman Trumbull, went to Minnesota, was, as a farmer, elected therefrom to the Senate of the United States as a Democrat, became a Brigadier General in the Union army, succeeded Lander, drove out Stonewall Jackson while Fremont was pursuing Jackson through the Shenandoah, both Federal Generals being victims of a war department, was nominated for Major General, but was not confirmed, and removed to a farm in Missouri, where he has since lived on a pension raised from $31 to $50 a month. He is five feet eight inches tall, has a swarthy face and dark hair, speaks fluently, and is a little visionary, enthusiastic and adventurous.

NATURE DEMANDS A TONIC

When the nerves are unstrung, the head aches, the appetite is poor or variable, the sleep disturbed, and a general depletion of vital power is experienced. Such a state of things cannot long exist without the development of serious disease. The most active and genial invigorant known is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The absolute purity of its spirituous basis and botanic ingredients gives it a permanent claim to the public confidence, and its surpassing medicinal virtues are admitted by medical men of distinction by whom it is wisely used in private practice. For fever and ague, both as a preventive and remedy, dyspepsia, liver complaint, bilious remittent fever, constipation, cholera complaints, flatulence, and all intestinal disorders, it is a thoroughly reliable remedy. It is the anti-febrile specific par excellence of the malarial districts of this and other countries where diseases born of miasma prevail, and as a general household remedy it is also universally esteemed.

Never Known to Fail.

Dr. Morse's Syrup of Tar Wild Cherry and Horehound has never been known to fail in permanently curing obstinate coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and any disease of the respiratory organs, and it does it, too, at once. It is not necessary to take it for a long time before you can discover its beneficial effects. Its sale in this community is immense, and its popularity universal. It should not be classed with compounds put up by inexperienced hands. Do not fail to give this great and potent remedy a trial. It will not and cannot disappoint you. Try it once. Trial size 10 cents. Regular sizes 50 cents and One Dollar. For sale by Dr. A. J. Stoner, druggist, Decatur. Also agent for Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup, which never fails. Pleasant to take, and requires no physic. Price 25 cents. April 1 1m d&w

The Sudden Disposition of Stimulants.

This is printed for the benefit of the gray and bald headed bibbers who think that a sudden letting up will jar the constitutional machinery.

The Rev. T. H. Cheape writes from Hartland Vicarage, North Devon, to the London Times. It is frequently affirmed that an sudden abstinence from alcoholic beverages in a person—much more an aged person—who has used them through life, is prejudicial to health. An instance has lately come under my observation of the beneficial results arising from the sudden disuse of alcoholic stimulants by a widow of eighty-two summers. Her usual drink through life had been gin, which she changed for beer previous to reaching her eightieth year. She suffered from occasional attacks of gout in her left hand, and also a running foot sore. Upon her reaching the age of eighty—that is, two years ago—she suddenly adopted the total abstaining principle much to the surprise and consternation of her friends, who all prophesied a speedy and sudden termination of her life for the want of her accustomed potations. Nothing of the kind. The foot healed, the gout vanished, and for two years she has been free from these harassing complaints, and is a living monument of the good effected by the sudden adoption of a nonalcoholic regimen. She is in her eighty-third year, and frequently walks out into her son's garden or farmyard without any covering on her head. Her memory is excellent; she can repeat long prayers, and she bids fair to become a centenarian.

Sketch of Gen. Shields.

New York Herald.

Gen. James Shields, who has been the subject of so much turmoil in Congress, was borne in Tyrone, Ireland, 1810, came to this country in 1820, settled in Illinois, studied law, was a legislator and judge, was made by Polk Commissioner of the General Land Office, was made Brigadier General for the Mexican war, was shot through the lungs, but recovered, fought at Chapultepec barebended and in his shirt sleeves without a horse, was again wounded, rescued from outrage a lady and her daughter in the night time by a secret and disobedient sally, became Senator from Illinois, was afterward beaten by Lyman Trumbull, went to Minnesota, was, as a farmer, elected therefrom to the Senate of the United States as a Democrat, became a Brigadier General in the Union army, succeeded Lander, drove out Stonewall Jackson while Fremont was pursuing Jackson through the Shenandoah, both Federal Generals being victims of a war department, was nominated for Major General, but was not confirmed, and removed to a farm in Missouri, where he has since lived on a pension raised from $31 to $50 a month. He is five feet eight inches tall, has a swarthy face and dark hair, speaks fluently, and is a little visionary, enthusiastic and adventurous.

NATURE DEMANDS A TONIC

When the nerves are unstrung, the head aches, the appetite is poor or variable, the sleep disturbed, and a general depletion of vital power is experienced. Such a state of things cannot long exist without the development of serious disease. The most active and genial invigorant known is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The absolute purity of its spirituous basis and botanic ingredients gives it a permanent claim to the public confidence, and its surpassing medicinal virtue is admitted by medical men of distinction by whom it is wisely used in private practice. For fever and ague, both as a preventive and remedy, dyspepsia, liver complaint, bilious remittent fever, constipation, cholera complaints, flatulence, and all intestinal disorders, it is a thoroughly reliable remedy. It is the anti febrile specific par excellence of the malarial districts of this and other countries where diseases born of miasma prevail, and as a general household remedy it is also universally esteemed.

Never Known to Fail.

Dr. Morse's Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound has never been known to fail in permanently curing obstinate coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, or any disease of the respiratory organs, and it does it, too, at once. It is not necessary to take it for a long time before you can discover its beneficial effects. Its sale in this community is immense, and its popularity universal. It should not be classed with compounds put up by unexperienced hands. Do not fail to give this great and potent remedy a trial. It will not and cannot disappoint you. Try it once. Trial size 10 cents. Regular sizes 50 cents and One Dollar. For sale by Dr. A. J. Stoner, druggist, Decatur.

Also agent for Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup, which never fails. Pleasant to take, and requires no physic. Price 25 cents.

WHY HE WAS REMOVED.

The attempt to create capital out of the removal of Albert Duer as assistant engineer at the water works, will result in nothing. The fire and water committee of the old council held a meeting a few days since, some three or four members of the city council, to investigate the differences and difficulties between the superintendent and the chief engineer, R. N. Henkle. It was then decided to remove Duer, on account of the impossibility of reconciling these differences, but as the city election was so near at hand, and the excitement attending it so great, the committee thought best to defer the matter lest it might be construed The election being over and it becoming [illegible] that a quarrel between the [illegible] could not be settled, the council decided to remove Duer, wisely thinking that the city and its inhabitants had too much at stake to risk the possible consequences of such a bitter feeling between the men who practically hold the water supply of 12,000 people in their hands. The details of the quarrel between the engineers are [illegible] who are curious, upon application to the fire and water committee. We do not care to go into this [illegible] quarrel between the men, but to call attention to the fact that it is not for the interest of the people that such a state of affairs should be permitted to exist.

The statement that O N Bramble was appointed to take Duer's place, is also incorrect. Duer's place was filled by the promotion of Earl Henkle, who has been almost 'raised' in the water works, and Bramble was appointed fireman. So it will be seen that the removal of Duer and the appointment of Bramble, were not such horrid outrages upon the people as some interested folks have endeavored to make them.

THE St. Louis Republican like the Chicago Times and Peoria Democrat, is disgusted with the action of the House in electing Field as Doorkeeper It says:

"Polk could have been put out and a successor put in without creating a ripple of excitement, and without furnishing the least opportunity for the manufacturers of political capital. All that was required was a little common sense on the part of the majority. But the Democrats must needs drag all their dirty linen into the face of the House, not only to quarrel over it, but to quarrel over it when they joined in a prodigious hullabaloo to attract the attention of the country to the washing and quarrelling. If any man doubt that this ridiculous and utterly unnecessary performance has injured the Democracy and helped the Republicans, he is a fit associate for the Rev. John Jasper, the African assailant of the Copernican theory. To those Democratic members who claim that the election of an ex-Confederate officer to the Doorkeepership is a 'great and signal triumph,' we may say, as the French General said to the English General while witnessing the fatal British cavalry charge at Balaklava: 'It is very fine, but it is not war.' And if the Democrats continue to make war in this manner, they deserve—and will get, sooner or later—a thorough drubbing at the polls."

A SPECIAL from Washington states that a scheme is on foot among the Republican Congressmen from Illinois, which has for its object the postponement of the Republican State Convention, until August or September. This report may be true or it may not, if it is true, the Illinois Congressmen could put in their time to a better advantage in attending to their duties in Congress than in running the politics of the state of Illinois. The Republican party has been in the habit of holding its State Conventions in May or June, and there is no good reason that has yet been developed why their should be a change of programme this year The Republicans have not been in the habit of shaping their course by the action of their opponents. When the proper time has arrived they have called the Convention, nominated their ticket, and then proceeded to elect it. There should be no change in this respect this year. Heretofore the Republicans of the state have been able to manage their affairs pretty successfully, and have done it without calling home their Congressmen to manipulate and run things for them, and we see nothing in the situation this year that requires the State Convention should be postponed until our Washington Solons can be at home.—Bloomington Leader.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

[illegible] nate for appellate clerk, (Geo. W. Jones of Pittsfield) was "beastly drunk" the night before the convention A friend of Mr. Jones in this city sent him the article in question, which brought the following reply:

PITTSFIELD, ILL., April [illegible], 187[illegible]

Friend [illegible] Yours was duly rec'd from Decatur Sun received, and I am obliged [illegible] has evidently been imposed upon as to my reported condition on the night of the convention. Judge Johnson, Judge [illegible] of the Macon co delegation, were upon my invitation, occupants of my room with me at the Leland Hotel and know whether or not I was "beastly drunk." That up that night until a late hour waiting for the midnight train to come in, that I might see the delegates as they arrived I retired after about 1:30 AM. One of the Macon gentlemen and perhaps both were awake, and can tell whether or not I was drunk. I think when the editor of that paper has an interview with those gentlemen, and an honorable man retracts the statements made by him, the press of the opposition to resort to dishonorable means to secure the election of their candidate will not believe that Mr. [illegible] would desire that his character for personal defamation and character his opponents in [illegible] may succeed. I am not [illegible] think Member of your [illegible] before the [illegible] to state my condition [illegible] me. I know that you are a temperance man, and I, without hesitation refer you to the gentleman named without mentioning [illegible] to do so. [illegible] controversy over this morrison and unjustifiable assault upon my private character. I feel sure that when the editor of the Sun is convinced of his error that [illegible] make his denial, though we cannot help thinking that if he had known the character of the Sun for veracity (or rather the want of it) he would not have troubled himself about the matter. Inasmuch, however, as Mr Jones has referred to one of the editors of the REPUBLICAN in this letter, with reference to his condition on the evening in question, we will state that if he was under the influence of liquor in the slightest degree he has a strange faculty for hiding it

Mr. Jones is the Democratic nominee for an important office and we expect to use our best endeavors to aid in de[illegible] the tactics of the Sun which seems to glory in its ability to lie about people

MR. SHICKSHANK, of McLean, in nominating Mr. Etter for Superintendent of Public Instruction, in the Democratic Convention, said that Democrat, Mr. Etter led the Democratic banner to victory in 1874, and that his renomination would be an assurance that success would crown the efforts of the party again. Somewhat to have a [illegible] recollection of the campaign of 1874, and an impression that Mr Etter did not claim to be a Democrat four years ago. Swaney claimed to be an independent in those days, by succeeding in straddling two nags, and won the race This year he will ride but one [illegible] Mr Etter avowed himself a Democrat in 1874 he would have been defeated His success then was the result of a confidence game, but it is one that cannot be repeated in the year 1878. Bloomington Leader.

MR. ALEX MCCOY, of Bloomington, has returned home from a two month's visit at the Arkansas Hot Springs. The Pantagraph says that he seems to be improved in health quite materially, and looks [illegible] greater case than he did when he left for the south.

THE British Government is having a hard fight of it to conquer a rebellion in South Africa. The war feeling amongst the natives is strong, and every [illegible] of the government has to be made to prevent a general uprising along the frontier, and far back in the country.

AN ASTONISHING FACT.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day suffering from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower, your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent

A POLITICAL REMINISCENCE.

The unexpected prominence given to the name of Gen James Shields during the current week brings to recollection an episode of thirty-five years ago, when that gentleman, then a citizen of Illinois, was mistaken for a man himself. [illegible] Shields, Auditor," and was the [illegible] young lady and the [illegible] of one of the most brilliant sarcasms ever leveled at an American politician.

[illegible] 1843 Springfield [illegible] received letters from the "Lost Townships," by "Aunt Becca," which held up the gallant young Auditor most blandly, "floatin about on the air, without heft or earthly substance, just like a lock of cat fur where cats had been scittin," and much more in the same strain. These letters caused an intense excitement in the town. Nobody knew or guessed their authorship. Shields swore it would be "coffee and pistols for two" if he should find out who had been laughing him so unmercifully. Thereupon "Aunt Becca" wrote another letter, which made the entrance of his wrath "seven times hotter than before," in which she made a very humble apology, and offered to let him squeeze her hand for "satisfaction," adding:

"If this should not answer, there is nothing more I would do rather than [illegible]. I have all along expect[illegible] widow, but, as Mr S. is [illegible] looking than otherwise, I [illegible] care if we compromise by—really, Mr. Printer, I [illegible] blushin' but, I it must [illegible]—but widowed modesty—[illegible] I must, I must—wouldn't he—[illegible] sorter, let the old codger drap if I was to consent to be—[illegible] I know he is a fightin' man and would rather fight than eat, but not marryin' [illegible] fightin' enough for does [illegible] I don't think, upon the whole, I'd be such a bad match neither. I'm not over sixty, and am just four feet three in my bare feet, and not much more round the [illegible] But, [illegible] chickens are hatched, [illegible] bills when the only alternative reserved for me may be a kickin. Jeff tells me the way these fire eaters do is to give the challenged party choice of weapons, etc. [illegible] you in confidence that I never fight with anything but broomsticks or hot water, or a shovel of coals or some such things; the former of which being somewhat like a shillalah, may not be so very objectionable to him I will give him choice, however, in one thing and that is, whether, when we fight, I shall wear breeches or his petticoats; for I presume this change is sufficient to place us on an equality."

Of course some one had to shoulder the responsibility of these letters after that shot The real author was none other than Miss Mary Todd, afterward the wife of Abraham Lincoln, to whom she was then engaged, and who was in honor bound to assume, for belligerent purposes, the responsibility of those sharp pen-thrusts Mr Lincoln accepted the situation Not long after the [illegible], with seconds, etc, were on their way to the "field of honor." But the affair was fixed up satisfactorily without any fighting, and shum ended in a dasle the Lincoln-Shields duel of the Lost Townships

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Jeremiah S. Black, instituted suit in court against ex-Secretary of War Belknap, claiming $5,000 for work and labor done by plaintiff at his request. The declaration is the usual formal one, and the bill of particulars as follows: "W. W Belknap, to Jeremiah S Black, debtor, for professional services as counsellor at law, $5,000." The fee claimed is for services of Black in the impeachment case.

WM. H Hunt, of New Orleans, in reply to a telegram of the president, says he will consent to the use of his name as nominee for the collectorship of that city Senators from Louisiana will not sustain him for that position, but will offer no objection to his confirmation as judge of the court of claims, place of Judge Peck. The president has promised to settle the question of the collectorship within a few days

The senate finance committee nearly unanimously adopted a substitute for repeal of the bill. It makes legal tenders receivable at par for United States four per cents, and that from and after the 1st of October, they be receivable for customs and all other debts, except where expressly stipulated and that after that date no legal tenders shall be retired for any reason.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 16. There is a vague feeling of uneasiness among well-informed people to-day, but no reason can be discovered therefor, except prolonged suspense. A Vienna correspondent says the prevailing idea is that Russia seems to favor the renewal of efforts for an understanding with Austria Austria, however, steadfastly adheres to a solution by a congress A Berlin dispatch says it is understood that in consequence of the slow progress of the attempted mediation. Prince Bismarck has recommended fresh negotiations between the powers themselves.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The 4½ per cent bonds are being steadily absorbed by investors and already the syndicate has disposed of a large amount. From present indications the loan will be a complete success, and the whole amount, $5,000,000, will no doubt be placed long before the date fixed for resumption

NO. 25 NORTH WATER STREET,

Conkling Unbosoms Himself.

And Goes for "That Man Hayes."

WAR NEWS.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The World, of to-morrow, will publish a long and important letter from a Utica, New York correspondent, being the sum of a series of interviews with Senator Conkling, at his home during the past few months. In the course of the interview, the World correspondent asked: "Well, Senator, I would like to know whether you think the true history of the Louisiana electoral business will ever be told in Congress, and if so, how soon?"

Conkling—Yes, I think it will. I do not see how it can be kept down. There are too many avenues of information opened, to-day, to make concealment of avail much longer. No reasonable man can doubt there was some kind of a bargain between the friends of Nicholls and that man Hayes, and that Stanley Matthews and Sherman were privy to it. I cannot say how soon facts will come out, for something may occur any day to force them to the surface it will probably be best to let them come out naturally

R—What will be the result?

C—The result will be that the whole country will be appalled by the distinction of this administration I tell you, sir, that never in the history of this nation has there been in the entire four years of an administration so much corruption, bartering of offices reward[illegible] of political favorites, traffic with political leaders and bar[illegible] and sale of the electoral franchise, as during this past year. The people will not believe it until the proof is shown them, but the proof will be forthcoming The people say that Hayes is a good man and means well, but they do not know what they are talking about. When all the facts are known about this administration, no [illegible] will attempt to excuse the man on account of his supposed goodness, nor yet because he is weak and ignorant The acts that have disgraced this administration have all been done before the opened eyes of the President

In concluding the Senator said Republicans in and out of Congress, have borne a great deal from Hayes, because he is a Republican President, but they are not quite prepared yet for southern dictation I can look for no good from the President and his Cabinet They have not got in in them When people know him as well as Republican Senators do the party will be thoroughly united, leaving out the administration

LONDON, April 16.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, replying to the inquiry of Mr. Foster, said the situation is an anxious one, but nothing has occurred to aggravate it or to diminish the hope of a satisfactory arrangement. Nothing justifies the assertion that England will be isolated. A circular is expected from Turkey to the Powers. There is good prospect of an arrangement in Thessaly and Epirus through the good offices of England.

ST PETERSBURG, April 16 - The Journal de St Petersburg states that negotiations with England and Austria are progressing.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill, April 16 Pursuant to notice, Mr Brown, the assignee of the Bunn estate sold certain portions of his Springfield property, this morning. The residence, in one of the most desirable localities of the city, was struck off to J. W Bunn for $10,000 The building at the southwest corner of the square, occupied by J W Bunn & Co, was sold to J T Smith, for $18,700. A building on the south side of the square brought $7,000, and another piece of business property brought $7,150, bought by Mr. William Staley The buildings are all occupied at present and have been a source of revenue to the estate The rents now due included in the amounts of the sale, bring the figures to within about $4,000 of the estimates of the assignee. The results of this morning's sale are gratifying to those interested. The sale will be continued at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the Rudolph property, a valuable residence in the northwestern portion of the city, will be sold.

LONDON, April 16.—April 16 A strike of cotton operators would stop 5,750,000 spindles in one district, and 1,500,000 in another, and the feeling of masters and is becoming stronger. The masters at Burnley last night resolved to cooperate in enforcing the reduction of wages. The card-room hands at Blackburn, after hearing the report of the deputation which waited upon the masters, unanimously resolved to resist the reduction. The weavers' association advise that the masters be requested to withdraw the notices of a reduction, when the weavers would continue work.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER,—Sirs: I have prescribed your medicine for forty years, but have seen a more perfect combination of the active principles and properties of the materia medica with the vegetable kingdom, than in your RADICAL CURE. WHY HE WAS REMOVED.

The attempt to create capital out of the removal of Albert Duer as assistant engineer at the water works, still [illegible] become known. The fire and water committee of the old council held a meeting [illegible] or four members of the city council, to investigate the differences and difficulties between Superintendent [illegible] and chief engineer, R. N. Bramble. It was thought desirable to remove Duer, on account of the impossibility of reconciling these differences, but as the city election was so near at hand, and the excitement attending it so great, the committee thought best to defer the matter lest [illegible] should be misconstrued. The election being over and it becoming [illegible] that the quarrel between the [illegible] could not be settled, the committee decided to remove Duer, wisely thinking that the city and its inhabitants had too much at stake to risk the possible consequences of such a quarrel between the men who practically hold the water supply of 12,000 people in their hands. The details of the quarrel between the engineers are dreaded by those who are curious, upon application to the fire and water committee. We do not care to go into this wretched personal quarrel between the men, but to call attention to the fact that it is not for the interest of the people that such a state of affairs should be permitted to exist.

The statement that O N Bramble was appointed to take Duer's place, is also incorrect. Duer's place was filled by the promotion of Earl Henkle, who has been almost "raised" in the water works, and Bramble was appointed fireman. So it will be seen that the removal of Duer and the appointment of Bramble, were not such horrid outrages upon the people as some interested folks have endeavored to make them.

THE St. Louis Republican like the Chicago Times and Peoria Democrat, is disgusted with the action of the House in electing Field as Doorkeeper It says:

"Polk could have been put out and a successor put in without creating a ripple of excitement, and without furnishing the least opportunity for the manufacturers of political capital. All that was required was a little common sense on the part of the majority. But the Democrats must needs drag all their dirty linen into the floor of the House, not only to quarrel over it, but to quarrel over it when they joined in a prodigious hullabaloo to attract the attention of the country to the washing and quarrelling. If any man doubt that this ridiculous and utterly unnecessary performance has injured the Democracy and helped the Republicans, he is a fit associate for the Rev. John Jasper, the African assailant of the Copernican theory. To those Democratic members who claim that the election of an ex-Confederate officer to the Doorkeepership is a "great and signal triumph," we may say, as the French General said to the English General while witnessing the fatal British cavalry charge at Balaklava: 'It is very fine, but it is not war.' And if the Democrats continue to make war in this manner, they deserve—and will get, sooner or later—a thorough drubbing at the polls."

A SPECIAL from Washington states that a scheme is on foot among the Republican Congressmen from Illinois, which has for its object the postponement of the Republican State Convention, until August or September. This report may be true or it may not, if it is true, the Illinois Congressmen could put in their time to a better advantage in attending to their duties in Congress than in running the politics of the state of Illinois. The Republican party has been in the habit of holding its State Conventions in May or June, and there is no good reason that has yet been developed why their should be a change of programme this year. The Republicans have not been in the habit of shaping their course by the action of their opponents. When the proper time has arrived they have called the Convention, nominated their ticket, and then proceeded to elect it. There should be no change in this respect this year. Heretofore the Republicans of the state have been able to manage their affairs pretty successfully, and have done it without calling home their Congressmen to manipulate and run things for them, and we see nothing in the situation this year that requires the State Convention should be postponed until our Washington Solons can be at home.—Bloomington Leader.

[illegible] nate for appellate clerk, (Geo. W. Jones of Pittsfield) was "beastly drunk" the night before the convention A friend of Mr. Jones in this city sent him the article in question, which brought the following reply:

[illegible] April [illegible] 187[illegible] Yours with slips from Decatur Sun received, and I am obliged [illegible] has evidently been imposed upon as to my reported condition on the night of the [illegible] Fourteenth ward [illegible] of the Macon co delegation, were upon my invitation, occupants of my room with me at the Leland Hotel and know whether or not I was "beastly drunk." that up that night until a late hour waiting for the midnight train to come in, that I might see the delegates as they arrived I retired for about 1:30 [illegible] One of the Macon gentlemen and perhaps both were awake, and can tell whether or not I was drunk. I think when the editor of that paper [illegible] an interview with those gentlemen [illegible] as an honorable man retract the statements made by him. [illegible] press of the opposition to resort to such dishonorable means to secure the election of their candidate [illegible] I do not believe that Mr [illegible] would [illegible] desire that his [illegible] character [illegible] personal defamation of his opponents in [illegible] may succeed I am sorry [illegible] think [illegible] Mother of your [illegible] late [illegible] before the [illegible] state my condition [illegible] I know that you are a temperance man, and I, without hesitation refer you to the gentleman named [illegible] my [illegible] consuming the [illegible] controversy over this occurrence and unjustifiable assault upon my private character I feel sure that when the editor of the Sun is convinced of his error that [illegible] make his denial, though we cannot help thinking that if he had known the character of the Sun for veracity (or rather the want of it) he would not have troubled himself about the matter. Inasmuch, however, as Mr Jones has referred to one of the editors of the REPUBLICAN in this letter, with reference to his condition on the evening in question, we will state that if he was under the influence of liquor in the slightest degree he has a strange faculty for hiding it

Mr. Jones is the Democratic nominee for an important office and we expect to use our best endeavors to aid in defeating him, [illegible] the tactics of the Sun which seems to glory in its ability to lie about people

Mr. Shockenessy, of McLean, in nominating Mr. Etter for Superintendent of Public Instruction, said the Democratic Convention of 1872 [illegible] Mr Etter the Democratic banner to victory in 1874, and that his renomination would be an assurance that success would crown the efforts of the party again. Somewhat, we have a vague recollection of the campaign of 1874, and an impression that Mr Etter did not claim to be a Democrat four years ago. Sammy claimed to be an independent in those days, by succeeding in straddling two nags, and won the race This year he will ride but one [illegible] the old hook kneed [illegible] Mr Etter avowed himself a Democrat in 1874 he would have been defeated His success then was the result of a confidence game, but it is one that cannot be repeated in the year 1878 Bloomington Leader.

HON. ALEX. MCCONNELL, of Bloomington, has returned home from a two month's visit at the Arkansas Hot Springs. The Mastagraph says that he seems to be improved in health quite materially, and looks much greater case than he did when he left for the south.

THE British Government is having a hard fight of it to conquer a rebellion in South Africa. The war feeling amongst the natives is strong, and every exertion of the government has to be made to prevent a general uprising along the frontier, and far back in the country.

AN ASTONISHING FACT.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day suffering from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower, your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all Druggists on the Western Continent

A POLITICAL [illegible]RCENCE.

[illegible] Shields [illegible] of the Lost Township

The unexpected prominence given to the name of Gen James Shields during the current week brings to recollection an episode of thirty-five years ago, when that gentleman, then a citizen of Illinois, was mortified to sign himself "Jas. Shields, Auditor," and was the subject of one of the most brilliant sarcasms ever leveled at an American politician.

In the spring of 1843 [illegible] Springfield [illegible] contained letters from the "Lost Townships," by "Aunt Becca," which held up the gallant young Auditor [illegible] blandly, "floatin' about on the air, without heft or earthly substance, just like a lock of cat fur where cats had been scattin'," and much more in the same strain. These letters caused an intense excitement in the town. Nobody knew or guessed their authorship. Shields swore it would be "coffee and pistols for two" if he should find out who had been lampooning him so unmercifully. Thereupon "Aunt Becca" wrote another letter, which made the vinegar of his wrath "seven times hotter than before," in which she made a very humble apology, and offered to let him squeeze her hand for "satisfaction," adding

"If this should not answer, there is nothing more I would do rather than [illegible]. I have all along expected a widow, but, as Mr S. is [illegible] thinking than otherwise, I don't care if I compromise [illegible] really—Mr. Printer, I [illegible] Mashin' but, I it must [illegible]—but widowed modesty—[illegible] I must, I must—couldn't he—maybe sorter, let the old condoe drap if I was to consent to be his wife! [illegible] I know he is a fightin' man and would rather fight than eat, but don't marryin' [illegible] fightin' enough for does some [illegible] I don't think, upon the whole, I'd be such a bad match neither, I'm not over sixty, and am just four feet three in my bare feet, and not much more round the [illegible] hand for [illegible] Town [illegible] But, [illegible] chickens [illegible] hatched, [illegible] when the only alternative reserved for me may be a kickin Jeff tells me the way these fire eaters do is to give the challenged party choice of weapons, etc [illegible] you in confidence that I never fight with anything but broomsticks or hot water, or a chaw of cinder or some such things; the former of which being somewhat like a shillalah, may not be so very objectionable to him I will give him choice, however, in one thing and that is, whether, when we fight, I shall wear breeches or his petticoats; for I presume this change is sufficient to place us on an equality.

Of course some one had to shoulder the responsibility of these letters after that shot The real author was none other than Miss Mary Todd, afterward the wife of Abraham Lincoln, to whom she was then engaged, and who was in honor bound to assume, for belligerent purposes, the responsibility of those sharp pen-thrusts Mr Lincoln accepted the situation Not long after the parties, with seconds, etc, were on their way to the "field of honor." But the affair was "fixed up" satisfactorily without any fighting, and thus ended in a farce the Lincoln-Shields duel of the Lost Townships

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Jeremiah S. Black, instituted suit in court against ex-Secretary of War Belknap, claiming $5,000 for work and labor done by plaintiff at his request. The declaration is the usual formal one, and the bill of particulars as follows: "W. W Belknap, to Jeremiah S Black, debtor, for professional services as counsellor at law, $5,000." The fee claimed is for services of Black in the impeachment case.

Wm. H Hunt, of New Orleans, in reply to a telegram of the president, says he will consent to the use of his name as nominee for the collectorship of that city Senators from Louisiana will not sustain him for that position, but will offer no objection to his confirmation as judge of the court of claims, place of Judge Peck. The president has promised to settle the question of the collectorship within a few days

The senate finance committee nearly unanimously adopted a substitute for repeal of the bill. It makes legal tenders receivable at par for United States four per cents, and that from and after the 1st of October, they be receivable for customs and all other debts, except where expressly stipulated and that after that date no legal tenders shall be retired for any reason.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 16. There is a vague feeling of uneasiness among well-informed people to-day, but no reason can be discovered therefor, except prolonged suspense. A Vienna correspondent says the prevailing idea is that Russia seems to favor the renewal of efforts for an understanding with Austria Austria, however, steadfastly adheres to a solution by a congress A Berlin dispatch says it is understood that in consequence of the slow progress of the attempted mediation. Prince Bismarck has recommended fresh negotiations between the powers themselves.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The 4½ per cent bonds are being steadily absorbed by investors and already the syndicate has disposed of a large amount. From present indications the loan will be a complete success, and the whole amount, $5,000,000, will no doubt be placed long before the date fixed for resumption

Conkling Unbosoms Himself.

And Goes for "That Man Hayes."

WAR NEWS.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The World, of to-morrow, will publish a long and important letter from a Utica, New York correspondent, being the sum of a series of interviews with Senator Conkling, at his home during the past few months. In the course of the interview, the World correspondent asked: "Well, Senator, I would like to know whether you think the true history of the Louisiana electoral business will ever be told in Congress, and if so, how soon?"

Conkling—Yes, I think it will. I do not see how it can be kept down. There are too many avenues of information opened, to-day, to make concealment of avail much longer. No reasonable man can doubt there was some kind of a bargain between the friends of Nicholls and that man Hayes, and that Stanley Matthews and Sherman were privy to it. I mean to say how soon facts will come out, for something may occur any day to force them to the surface and will probably be best to let them come out naturally

R—What will be the result?

C—The result will be that the whole country will be appalled by the disclosures of this administration I tell you, sir, that never in the history of this nation has there been in the entire four years of an administration so much corruption, bartering of offices reward ing not political favorites, traffic with political leaders and barters and sale of the electoral franchise, as during this past year. The people will not believe it until the proof is shown them, but the proof will be forthcoming The people say that Hayes is a good man and means well, but they do not know what they are talking about. When all the facts are known about this administration, no one will attempt to excuse the man on account of his supposed goodness, nor yet because he is weak and ignorant The acts that have disgraced this administration have all been done before the opened eyes of the President

In concluding the Senator said Republicans in and out of Congress, have borne a great deal from Hayes, because he is a Republican President, but they are not quite prepared yet for southern dictation I can look for no good from the President and his Cabinet They have not got it in them When people know him as well as Republican Senators do the party will be thoroughly united, leaving out the administration

LONDON, April 16.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer replying to the inquiry of Mr. Foster, said the situation is an anxious one, but nothing has occurred to aggravate it or to diminish the hope of a satisfactory arrangement. Nothing justifies the assertion that England will be isolated. A circular is expected from Turkey to the Powers. There is good prospect of an arrangement in Thessaly and Epirus through the good offices of England.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill, April 16 Pursuant to notice, Mr Brown, the assignee of the Bunn estate sold certain portions of his Springfield property, this morning. The residence, in one of the most desirable localities of the city, was struck off to J. W Bunn for $10,000 The building at the southwest corner of the square, occupied by J W Bunn & Co, was sold to J T Smith, for $18,700. A building on the south side of the square brought $7,000, and another piece of business property brought $7,150, bought by Mr. William Staley The buildings are all occupied at present and have been a source of revenue to the estate The rents now due included in the amounts of the sale, bring the figures to within about $4,000 of the estimates of the assignee. The results of this morning's sale are gratifying to those interested. The sale will be continued at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the Rudolph property, a valuable residence in the northwestern portion of the city, will be sold.

LONDON, April 16.—April 16 A strike of cotton operators would stop 5,750,000 spindles in one district, and 1,500,000 in another, and the feeling of masters and is becoming stronger. The card-room hands at Blackburn, after hearing the report of the deputation which waited upon the masters, unanimously resolved to resist the reduction. A WICKED RUNAWAY,

But Nobody Seriously Hurt Except Bob Montgomery's Fine Top Buggy

Mr George Montgomery called at the residence of Ald Durfee this morning about 10 o'clock with the fine rig and gay black horse known as "But Montgomery," for Miss B Tisdale who has been on a visit to Miss Nellie Durfee and others of her school mates and friends In driving through the door yard the wheels of the buggy struck a leaning post set to protect some evergreens suddenly tipping the vehicle so as to throw Mr M out of the buggy the horse at the same time making a sudden spring, jerking the lines out of his hands Mr M was on his feet in a moment and ran to turn the head of the horse from the gateway with a view of keeping him on the premises, but the horse with buggy and precious freight, scaled the hedge fence in front of Mr Durfee's house but fortunately for Miss Tisdale the horse in making the turn to go back the way he had came, instead of taking across the common in the direction he left the premises she was thrown clear from the buggy with little injury except some pretty severe bruises, the worst one on the forehead Miss Tisdale was scarcely less frightened than Mr Durfee and family and quite a number of the kind people of the vicinity who ran to her assistance

THE MUM SOCIABLE

The first entertainment of this kind ever given in Decatur, so far as we are advised, was given by the ladies of Stapp's Chapel last evening at the residence of J C Lake, Esq The attendance was quite large and the occasion an interesting one The ponderous speaking during the evening was on cents, and so far as we have learned no one escaped The gathering was made interesting by a dumb recitation by Rev S MacBurney, a recitation in German by Miss Anna Haworth, a recitation by Miss Griffin and also by Miss Lewis Instrumental music was furnished by Messrs Clark and Irwin and Prof Shick played an original poem Refreshments were served to all who desired, and though it was appointed for a "mum" sociable all present were eminently social In a word the affair may be written down as among the pleasantest of the season

WHAT A READER THINKS.

DECATUR, ILL, April 17, 1878

EDS. REPUBLICAN—Your editorial in yesterday's paper, headed, "We Can't Do it," meets with a hearty response from the readers of the REPUBLICAN, and all the better class of our citizens, who have given the matter serious consideration — They feel that you can be better employed than in printing, and then in sending replies to the wild, fanatical, virulent attacks of the self constituted conservator of the morals of this community, who writes for the Sun Were the Sun a Decatur institution, and its interests identified with those of Macon county, and were its editor mentally responsible, you might be expected to follow up the base attacks on our community and many of our best business men The Sun, as is well known is a Danville institution, owned by a prominent business man and strong Republican, R. M Kimball of that city,

The people of Decatur should not forget that many people believe that Kimball, the editor of the Sun, is at times not mentally responsible We are credibly informed that a little inquiry into his past history will show that he, for some years at times, is not the cheerful, sprightly man of bygone days If this be true, (which his strange, wavering, unsteady uncertain course in his editorial life here clearly indicates), you can well be excused from paying attention to every insane and wicked charge that he makes against us (you) and others No sane business man, as the Sun has done, will indecently, maliciously and [illegible] attack the good name of good citizens No man worthy of confidence and respect will endeavor, under cover of a great moral question that, in its proper management and discussion commands the sympathy and support of our best citizens, to stir up strife between the people of our community, or damage and jeopardize the business interests of our town and county No Macon county institution will do this As the travelling doctors who stir up strife between the "regulars" and their patients till they can rob them of some fees this peripatetic healer of morals who writes for the Sun, will soon, as he did in Belleville, Denver and Danville, quietly steal away As to following him further in his wild ravings, you can well say 'We can't do it" ALPHA

THIEVES TAKEN IN.

This morning officer Hoobsmon noticed three young men approaching the depot from the east on the Wabash track, and thinking their appearance somewhat suspicious he fell into conversation with them. They answers to the questions which he propounded tended to confirm the officer's suspicions that the fellows were thieves. Under this impression he took them into custody, and upon searching them found in their pockets the following invoice of goods Two cravats two cotton handkerchiefs, two silk handkerchiefs five gents' colored collars, one pair lisle thread socks, three pairs ladies' kid gloves, two pairs gents' do., one box of matches, two pocket knives, one door key, 19 sets of gold-plated bosom studs 4 sets of pearl do, one pair of gold plated sleeve buttons, five pairs wooden do. 8 collar buttons, and seventy cents in money The jewelry is on cards which bear the private mark of the owner

The fellows had on new suits of clothes which bear marks of having been out of the store but a short time Of course nothing is known as to where the goods described above came from, but it is very evident that they were stolen, and there is no doubt that the clothes which they have on were also stolen The value of the goods enumerated above would probably approximate twenty dollars

The men were lodged in the calabouse where they will be detained until there is time to correspond with country towns as to whether or not goods of this description have been stolen Some clue will probably be obtained within a day or two

WE have received from the Illinois State Laboratory of Natural History a circular in regard to a summer scientific school to be held at the laboratory, in the State Normal University building during the coming summer Arrangements have been made for instruction in the following branches

1 Comparative Anatomy and General Zoological Classification
2 Determinate Zoology, with special reference to the fishes and crustaceans of the State
3 The Development of Animals
4 The Collection and Preservation of Specimens
5 Phanogamic Botany
6 Cryptogamic Botany
7 Chemistry

The session will open June 26th, and close July 24th

The tuition fee will be ten dollars for the four weeks, or fifty cents a day for a shorter time Chemistry students will also pay for material used "Consideration reference will be had to the needs of teachers in the public schools"

Three years ago a similar school was held which it was the pleasure of the writer to attend The advantages were at that time said to be equal, if not superior, to anything of the kind in the United States, and this, too, by those who had been at Harvard and Penikese Since that time the old museum has been entirely refitted and rearranged New furniture fitted for the purposes of actual work has been introduced new microscopes have been purchased, and the energetic director, Prof S A Forbes, who is an enthusiastic student of nature, and has already done much original investigation, has spared no pains to enlarge the advantages for study

We understand that several from Macon county intend to improve this opportunity and hope to hear that more will do so

We have also received a circular from S S Hamill, professor of elocution and English literature in Illinois College, who proposes to open a "summer school of elocution in Jacksonville Ill June 10, 1878, for the special instruction of teachers and others who desire to fit themselves for professional teachers of elocution and dramatic readers"

Who is to conduct the class in Botany this summer, at the Annual Institute"

DEAR SIR —Will say that Miss Lucy Irwin will have charge of that department Miss Irwin proposes to organize two classes one for those commencing the study, and one for those advanced in the study Thus teachers can be put in the classes just where they desire The beginners will do the work usually done by such classes, but the advanced division will commence with cell structure and make free use of the microscope, diving down into the most intricate and hidden truths of this delightful study The teacher will not leave a single leaf unturned to advance the interest of her classes Be sure and join her classes on commencement day

Very respectfully JOHN TRAINER

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

To the Hon Board of Education, Decatur Ill

The undersigned member of The Visiting Committee, (I was not aware of any other member being present), as requested by you, attended the school examinations at the first ward school on Thursday afternoon and Friday, March 21 and 22, 1878, would respectfully make the following report

All the school rooms were visited Careful attention was given to the respective examinations in History Geography, Arithmetic, Reading Spelling, &c The teachers in this ward deserve the highest praise and commendation for the careful training of their respective classes The children acquitted themselves well in the examinations

If the parents and friends of the children in these schools could know how very anxious all these teachers are to see these children improve in their studies the parents and friends would come over to school at least once a term and look each teacher in the eye and then say from the heart, thank God!

As I am on the committee and making a report, I resolve myself into a Parents Committee and on their behalf say to Mr Bigelow Mss Bradley Miss Carlton Miss Edwards, Miss Millburn and Miss Johnson, thank you My hope is that in after years your pupils will remember you as among their best friends, and take pleasure in claiming the honor of having been your pupils

When the great and learned Aristotle toiled to get knowledge to stick in the memory of the son of Philip the King of Macedonia, he was training the boy that afterwards left Europe with a small army and conquered all armed opposition he met, took the great city of Babylon and overthrew the Persian Empire

You do not know but you have toiled and worried with some boy in your school that may be great in the true sense No man can be truly great unless he is good Gentlemen of the Board, you have done well in the choice of teachers for the first ward Give them all the encouragement in your power that they may toil on, hope on, and continue their noble honorable work Hold fast to our common school system, improve where you can but never abandon the field

NOT SO EASY TO SAY

Some of the teachers let their pupils hurry too much in going over the lessons This will cause the child to repeat words, and will end in stammering This is a grave fault The teachers may hurry too much, and if any of you do not hurry for them they will hurry you, but [illegible] one of them that does so Respectfully submitted,

April 9, 1878 S G MALONE,
Chairman 1st ward

A WICKED RUNAWAY,

But Nobody Seriously Hurt Except Bob Montgomery's Fine Top Buggy

Mr George Montgomery called at the residence of Ald Durfee this morning about 10 o'clock with the fine rig and gay black horse known as "Bob Montgomery," for Miss B Tisdale who has been on a visit to Miss Nellie Durfee and others of her school mates and friends In driving through the door yard the wheels of the buggy struck a leaning post set to protect some evergreens suddenly tipping the vehicle so as to throw Mr M out of the buggy the horse at the same time making a sudden spring jerking the lines out of his hands Mr M was on his feet in a moment and ran to turn the head of the horse from the gateway with a view of keeping him on the premises but the horse with buggy and precious freight, scaled the hedge fence in front of Mr Durfee's house but fortunately for Miss Tisdale the horse in making the turn to go back the way he had came, instead of taking across the common in the direction he left the premises she was thrown clear from the buggy with little injury except some pretty severe bruises, the worst one on the forehead Miss Tisdale was scarcely less frightened than Mr Durfee and family and quite a number of the kind people of the vicinity who ran to her assistance

THE MUSICALE

The first entertainment of this kind ever given in Decatur, so far as we are advised, was given by the ladies of Stapp's Chapel last evening at the residence of J C Lake Esq The attendance was quite large and the occasion an interesting one The ponderous speaking during the evening was in vain, and so far as we have learned no one escaped The gathering was made interesting by a dumb recitation by Rev S MacBurney a recitation in German by Miss Anna Haworth, a recitation by Mr. Griffin and also by Miss Lewis Instrumental music was furnished by Messrs Clark and Irwin and Prof Black read an original poem Refreshments were served to all who desired and though it was announced for a "mum" sociable all present were eminently social In a word the affair may be written down as among the pleasantest of the season

WHAT A READER THINKS.

Decatur, Ill, April 17, 1878

Mess. Republican—Your editorial in yesterday's paper, headed, "We Can't Do It," meets with a hearty response from the readers of the Republican, and all the better class of our citizens who have given the matter serious consideration — They feel that you can be better employed than in printing, and then in sending, replies to the wild, fanatical virulent attacks of the self constituted conservator of the morals of this community who writes for the Sun Were the Sun a Decatur institution, and its interests identified with those of Macon county, and were its editor mentally responsible you might be expected to follow up the base attacks on our community and many of our best business men The Sun, as is well known is a Danville institution, owned by a prominent business man and strong Republican, R. M Kimball of that city.

The people of Decatur should not forget that many people believe that Kimball, the editor of the Sun, is at times not mentally responsible We are credibly informed that a little inquiry into his past history will show that he, for some years at times, is not the cheerful, sprightly man of bygone days If this be true, (which his strange wavering unsteady uncertain course in his editorial life here clearly indicates), you can well be excused from paying attention to every insane and wicked charge that he makes against us (you) and others No sane business man, as the Sun has done, will indecently maliciously and recklessly attack the good name of good citizens No man worthy of confidence and respect will endeavor, under cover of a great moral question that, in its proper management and discussion commands the sympathy and support of our best citizens, to stir up strife between the people of our community, or damage and jeopardize the business interests of our town and county No Macon county institution will do this But the travelling doctors who stir up strife between the "regulars" and their patients till they can rob them of some fees this peripatetic healer of morals who writes for the Sun, will soon, as he did in Belleville, Denver and Danville, quietly steal away As to following him further in his wild ravings, you can well say "We can't do it" Alpha

THIEVES TAKEN IN.

This morning officer Hoobsmon noticed three young men approaching the depot from the east on the Wabash track, and thinking their appearance somewhat suspicious he fell into conversation with them Their answers to the questions which he propounded tended to confirm the officer's suspicions that the fellows were thieves. Under this impression he took them into custody, and upon searching them found in their pockets the following invoice of goods Two cravats two cotton handkerchiefs, two silk handkerchiefs five gents' colored collars, one pair lisle thread socks, three pairs ladies kid gloves two pairs gents' do, one box of matches, two pocket knives, one door key, 19 sets of gold-plated bosom studs 4 sets of pearl do, one pair of gold plated sleeve buttons, five pairs wooden do collar buttons, and seventy cents in money The jewelry is on cards which bear the private mark of the owner

The fellows had on new suits of clothes which bear marks of having been out of the store but a short time Of course nothing is known as to where the goods described above came from, but it is very evident that they were stolen, and there is no doubt that the clothes which they have on were also stolen The value of the goods enumerated above would probably approximate twenty dollars

The men were lodged in the calabooose where they will be detained until there is time to correspond with country towns as to whether or not goods of this description have been stolen Some clue will probably be obtained within a day or two

Wood.—Pratt has constantly on hand stove wood and four-feet wood, which he will deliver on short notice

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

Notice to Correspondents All subject matter intended for this column should be addressed to L E Brown or Miss M F Fulton, Decatur, or J Trainer Blue Mound, Ill

We have received from the Illinois State Laboratory of Natural History a circular in regard to a summer scientific school to be held at the laboratory, in the State Normal University building during the coming summer Arrangements have been made for instruction in the following branches

1 Comparative Anatomy and General Zoological Classification
2 Determinate Zoology, with special reference to the fishes and crustaceans of the State
3 The Development of Animals
4 The Collection and Preservation of Specimens
5 Phanogamic Botany
6 Cryptogamic Botany
7 Chemistry

The session will open June 20th and close July 24th

The tuition fee will be ten dollars for the four weeks, or fifty cents a day for a shorter time Chemistry students will also pay for material used Constant reference will be had to the needs of teachers in the public schools

Three years ago a similar school was held which it was the pleasure of the writer to attend The advantages were at that time said to be equal if not superior, to anything of the kind in the United States, and this, too, by those who had been at Harvard and Penikese Since that time the old museum has been entirely refitted and rearranged New furniture fitted for the purposes of actual work has been introduced new microscopes have been purchased, and the energetic director, Prof S A Forbes, who is an enthusiastic student of nature, and has already done much original investigation, has spared no pains to enlarge the advantages for study

We understand that several from Macon county intend to improve this opportunity and hope to hear that more will do so

We have also received a circular from S S Hamill, professor of elocution and English literature in Illinois College who proposes to open a "summer school of elocution in Jacksonville Ill June 10, 1878 for the special instruction of teachers and others who desire to fit themselves for professional teachers of elocution and dramatic readers

Terms 50 class lessons (class not to exceed ten members) $25 private lessons $2 each

QUERY

Mc of Forsyth asks How many and what bills have been vetoed by presidents?

AN ENQUIRY

Who is to conduct the class in Botany this summer, at the Annual Institute?

Dear Sir —Will say that Miss Lucy Irwin will have charge of that department Miss Irwin proposes to organize two classes one for those commencing the study, and one for those advanced in the study Thus teachers can be put in the classes just where they desire The beginners will do the work usually done by such classes, but the advanced division will commence with cell structure and make free use of the microscope, diving down into the most intricate and hidden truths of this delightful study The teacher will not leave a single leaf unturned to advance the interest of her classes Be sure and join her classes on commencement day

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

To the Hon Board of Education of Decatur Ill

The undersigned member of the Visiting Committee, (I was not aware of any other member being present), as requested by you attended the school examinations at the first ward school on Thursday afternoon and Friday, March 21 and 22, 1878, would respectfully make the following report

All the school rooms were visited Careful attention was given to the respective examinations in History Geography, Arithmetic Reading Spelling &c The teachers in this ward deserve the highest praise and commendation for the careful training of their respective classes The children acquitted themselves well in the examinations

If the parents and friends of the children in these schools could know how very anxious all these teachers are to see these children improve in their studies the parents and friends would come over to school at least once a term and look each teacher in the eye and then say from the heart, thank God!

As I am on the committee and making a report, I resolve myself into a Parents Committee and on their behalf say to Mr Bigelow Mrs Bradley Miss Carlton Miss Edwards, Miss Millburn and Miss Johnson, thank you My hope is that in after years your pupils will remember you as among their best friends, and take pleasure in claiming the honor of having been your pupils

When the great and learned Aristotle toiled to get knowledge to stick in the memory of the son of Philip the King of Macedonia he was training the boy that afterwards left Europe with a small army and conquered all armed opposition he met, took the great city of Babylon and overthrew the Persian Empire

You do not know but you have toiled and worried with some boy in your school that may be great in the true sense No man can be truly great unless he is good Gentlemen of the Board, you have done well in the choice of teachers for the first ward Give them all the encouragement in your power that they may toil on hope on, and continue their noble honorable work Hold fast to our common school system, improve where you can but never abandon the field

NOT SO EASY TO SAY

Some of the teachers let their pupils hurry too much in going over the lessons This will cause the child to repeat words, and will end in stammering This is a grave fault The teachers may hurry too much, and if any of you do not hurry for them you will hear from you, but one or two of them that does not so Respectfully submitted,

April 9, 1878 S G Malone,
Chairman Visiting 1st ward

Chicago boasts of a woman that has hair seven feet long. Now, we are not a betting man, but we are ready to wager everything we own, right down to our suspender buckles, that this is the woman who makes our butter.

Jane Grey Swisshelm has been suspended from the Sorosis for having rashly wished she was a man. But she was reinstated, on payment of a light fine, when she explained that she uttered the wish while trying to climb upon a high stool at a railroad lunch counter.

"Do you know, remarked a rather fast Newark youth the other day to a stuttering friend to whom he was slightly indebted, do you know that I intend to marry and settle down?" "I don't know anything about it," was the reply, "but I think you had b b better stay single and settle up."

A Cleveland man has been married ten times, and yet he has to work for a living.

ENJOY LIFE.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means for enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health, but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worried out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint is the direct cause of 75 per cent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.
